

ARE TO ACCEPT AN INVITATION

From The Japanese Government For Visit From American Fleet At Their Ports.

CABINET DEBATE ON THE QUESTION

Results In Secretary Root Being Ordered To Officially Acknowledge The Invitation Of The Mikado And His Empire.

Washington, D. C., March 20.—The Japanese government has extended an invitation to the American government to have the Atlantic battleship fleet to visit any port of Japan on its homeward cruise around the world. The question of its acceptance or rejection was considered by the President and his cabinet today.

Of importance As the matter is of national importance it was given due deliberation by President Roosevelt and the cabinet at their session. Rumors which emanated from the cabinet chamber were that it was considered probable that the invitation would be accepted and the fleet ordered to arrange its schedule so as to be the guests of the Mikado.

It is Accepted Now were surprised this afternoon when it was formally announced that Japan's invitation would be formally accepted by Secretary Root. The secretary of state will act in behalf of the United States and the big armada will stop at the Japanese ports while on its way to the United States via the Suez canal, probably before its visit to the Philippines.

In the House By a vote of 148 to 115 the motion that the President supply any information that the department of commerce and labor have acquired as to the corporations. The work was done by the bureau of corporations.

If the bill for the creation of a tariff commission which was introduced today by Senator La Follette should become a law, it would be competent for the commission and the President, acting together, to suspend any tariff schedule and put on the free list any article upon which there was such a combination as would control the production, prices or wages, either in the United States or in any foreign market.

In a neighboring district sixteen gypsies belonging to another band died after eating hares which had been poisoned by the farmers and left lying in the fields.

WILL START SUITS TO TEST DECISION

Sale of Bank Deposit to Satisfy Claims Against Corporation to Be Tested. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Milwaukee, Wis., March 20.—A bank deposit of $81 was sold at sheriff's sale for $6 yesterday to satisfy claims against the Royal Trading Stamp Co. of Milwaukee, which recently closed its business in this city, but the sale will probably be contested in the courts further. The action on which the sale was ordered was started by Karnofsky & Rhode, shareholders of the city and patrons of the Royal Co., who claimed that the company had failed to redeem its stamps. On the other hand the company claimed that the merchants had not fulfilled the rules of the company. A local court decided that the bank deposit could be attached, the decision being the first of its kind in the state.

JOHNSON'S FRIENDS DO SOME FIGURING

Minnesota Democrats Base Their Hopes upon Uninstructed Delegates. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Minneapolis, Minn., March 20.—The Minnesota democrats who have undertaken the task of putting Governor John A. Johnson in the White House have reached that stage of their campaign where they are able to present some figures. These figures, though they may not turn out to be facts, are none the less interesting. They purport to show how the first battle may be won by defeating Bryan for the nomination. After that, the Johnson sponsors assume their task of winning the election will be comparatively easy.

J. C. BECKHAM, EX-GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY. Ex-Governor Beckham, although defeated in his fight for the senate, is still in the game politically and a dominant factor in Kentucky's politics. Democrats in practically every section of Kentucky declare that it is unquestionably the purpose of former Governor Beckham to make a supreme effort now to control the coming state convention, become chairman of the Kentucky delegation to the national convention at Denver, select the other delegates, or as many of them as he can, and to dictate the personnel of the state central and state executive committees, which will be the governing authority of the party for four years. It is thought that Beckham is determined on this course for two reasons. First, that he naturally has an ambition to control the party organization and thus maintain his leadership of the party; and, second, that if William Jennings Bryan should be elected president he and his friends feel that he will be given recognition that will enable him to again become the dominating factor in Democratic politics in Kentucky. It is even hinted that his aspirations lead to the second place on the national ticket.

BUYING APPEARS TO HAVE DROPPED OFF

Edgerton Reporter Announces That Little is Being Done with the Weed Now.

That the buying movement is slackening up somewhat is quite evident. Some of the large operators who were in the market last week have withdrawn their buyers for the time being and even those who are riding are proceeding very carefully. The great bulk of the transactions now being closed are upon an export basis and at figures too small to be quoted in this column. The sales which we append are supposed to be for the better selections of the crop.

It has a state park board, too, whose members working without compensation are devoting much time to the examination and selection of sites suitable for great state reservations.

Manitowish, Wis., March 20.—Using a shotgun, John Harlan, a two Rivers man and inmate of the county insane asylum, committed suicide yesterday by blowing the entire top of his head off. Harlan placed the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and fired the string of an apron to the trigger, exploding the gun by pulling the string with his feet. Harlan was 51 and had been insane since 1899. A widow and seven children survive. He was formerly a harnessmaker and insanity was due to attempts to solve perpetual motion.

CERTAINLY CALLED FOR NERVE.

Young Man Claimed He Had It, But Didn't Want Position.

A young man entered the office of the director of the city zoo in New York and asked for a job. The usual formula, "no vacancy," trembled on the lips of the man in charge, but a second look at the applicant checked its utterance. "You want a job, do you?" was the question that took its place. "I do—and I want it bad." "Have you nerve?" "I had enough to ask work from the city without a pull." "That speaks well for you. We do want a man, but I don't think you would like the place." "Try me once. What is it?" "Extracting poison from the fangs of the snakes." "Twenty-three!" remarked the applicant, as he turned to go. "Ring again." "No, but I mean it," said the official. And he did. He took the young man to the snake house and showed him the snakes. Then he exhibited a bottle of poison extracted from their fangs. The position offered has other duties, but the essential requirement is that the incumbent shall at stated seasons corner the snakes and pump them free of poison. The young man asked for 24 hours for consideration. He has now had over 48, and has not even sent a postal card.

TWO GREAT THINGS IN LIFE.

Doing Real Work Well, and Love, Says This Writer.

On this gloomy day, beginning with a troublous morning a spirit of content grows upon me. Perhaps it is because I rescued those half-burned notes, but somehow it comes to me with renewed force that two of the great things in life are real work—that is worth the doing—and love. To this add optimism, a reasonable and eager hope, and you have certainly the ingredients for happiness. There is a spirit of worship in work, recognized by the monks long ago in their proverb, "Work is prayer." The same spirit exists in true love, that impels us to high ideals, and calls out the best, the truest, the noblest sentiments we possess. "We needs must love the highest when we see it." Real joy and happiness often exist in the weariness of toil, and in striving to live up to an ideal and be worthy of love. There is no great mystery in this, for real troubles have their part in life, yet after all, a great many of them are mere phantoms, that vanish as the sunlight dispels the gloom.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Small Necked New Yorkers.

Statistics furnished by manufacturers of shirts and collars indicate that the average New York man has a smaller neck than his out-of-town brother. Comparison of orders shows that out of a given volume of business booked, Boston and Chicago led in the matter of big sizes. Inquiry at several haberdashery shops in Manhattan resulted in the information that any number larger than 16 1/2 would have to be specially called for from the factory or had through the selling agent. In other cities it is an everyday experience to sell as high as size 18 over the retail counter. Of course, the element of saug it is a factor, but as a regular proposition eastern and western men are more "bull-necked" than is the case with their New York brethren.

The Love of Good Books.

There is no task of the teacher that can surpass in importance the work of forming right tastes of reading among children. It makes not so much difference what children learn as what they love. What they learn they will forget; what they love they will keep. If children do not learn to use and appreciate good books while at school, they will hardly ever learn, and their education will not amount to much. The school has to do with child and youth, but the library has to do with the child, the youth and the man until the end of his life. A good book is a blessing, but an evil one a curse.

Just One of the Ways.

The declaration made recently by a New York judge that had cooking drives men to drink only gives the masculine sex another excuse for blaming everything on the woman.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO GAMBLING CHARGE

Sam Warner Will Fight the "Kelly Pool" Action Brought Against Him on Complaint of P. S. Peterson.

On complaint of Peter S. Peterson, who resides at 11 Maple Court, Sam and A. Warner, who conduct the barbershop and billiard hall on South Main street, appeared in municipal court this morning to answer to a charge of being a party to or permitting gambling in his establishment. Mr. Warner pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Thursday, March 26. "Kelly pool," a game something like bottle-pool and occasionally played for small stakes, is said to be the form of gambling alleged by Mr. Peterson. According to the defendant, he and the complainant have had a little difficulty over a gasolene lighting-plant which was installed in the Warner place, but which the proprietor refused to pay for on the ground that it was not up to the guarantee. If anything comes of the case it is just possible that Mr. Warner will decide to prefer the same charge against Peterson as the latter has brought against him. This may business, solicitude for the moral welfare of the community, and the spirit of retaliation be entertainingly blended and aired before the bar of justice.

THE BRONZE ARCH ERECTED BY THE CITIZENS OF DENVER AT THE UNION STATION TO WELCOME ITS GUESTS NEXT SUMMER.

Denver, Colorado, March 21.—An immense bronze "Welcome Arch" has been erected at the Union depot facing the world "Welcome" to all who come. This arch cost $25,000, is 60 feet high, weighs 70 tons and is lighted with 2,000 four candle power lamps. It is intended as a greeting to the thousands of strangers who come to Denver each day especially in the summer months when the tourist travel to this state brings an army of visitors daily.

Special illumination is planned for the meeting of the democratic national convention which assembles here in July. The city will be made a blaze of lights not only as a welcome to the delegates, but as a protection against law breakers who may follow the vast crowds to Denver.

police could be greatly decreased. Now the city is lighted by rows of arc lights, placed at brief intervals along its residence streets and throughout its business district so that it is almost impossible for a law breaker to ply his calling to better advantage after nightfall than in daytime.

Recently the city adopted a plan of lighting the alleys in the city which were known to be the haunts of the rougher element. When the alleys were flooded with lights it was seen that order was easily kept and the necessity for policemen vanished. Owing to the vast amount of lights used Denver's arc lights are furnished at $60 per year, while cities using less light, of the same population as Denver, pay on an average of $24 per year. The additional expenditure for light is more than compensated for by the decreased cost of the police department and the expense of punishing lawbreakers who flock to poorly lighted cities to carry on their work in darkness.

Because of this excellent lighting the city of Denver is policed by a smaller force than is required by any other city of 200,000 people in the United States. One policeman covers as much territory on the brilliantly lighted streets as two could take care of before the light was turned on the dark places. Exceptionally brilliant lights are used in the public parks and the grounds of public buildings. A special department of the city government is engaged in the inspection of wiring for light on all new buildings and enforcing the ordinances providing for safety in lighting arrangements. Because of the heavy penalties inflicted for neglecting precautions of safety there is seldom a fire caused by electric current.

So famous has Denver's crime-preventing lights become that many eastern cities have sent committees composed of the officers of their police department here to inspect the workings of the new plan. So many large conventions are held in Denver every year that the police force is called upon to deal with criminals who come here expecting to ply their calling with comparative safety in the great crowds. The brilliant lighting of the streets and alleys affords a greater protection against this class of unwelcome guest than the most elaborate surveillance by the police.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, March 20.—There has been an association formed of some twenty breeders of Duroc-Jersey hogs. They will hold sales twice a year and will exhibit at the fairs. The officers of the association are: Pres., F. H. Hart; Vice-Pres., W. P. Green; Sec., C. W. Carpenter; Treas., A. S. Knudson.

The many friends of J. A. Young have persuaded him to become a candidate for mayor of the city of Brodhead, to be voted upon at the coming spring election.

Mrs. O. Cagle is very sick with inflammatory rheumatism. Mrs. Hartman is caring for her.

Mrs. E. Pengra spent yesterday in Janesville.

O. W. Stabler sold his farm of 163 acres, between Brodhead and Juda, to E. O. Grenzow, formerly of this vicinity. He also purchased Mr. Stabler's farm implements. The entire consideration was $14,000, possession to be given April 1st.

Mrs. John Swan is suffering with a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. She is somewhat better at this writing.

An open meeting of the Chalmade club was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Murdock last Tuesday evening. There were between fifty and sixty present. After a delightful program refreshments were served and an evening of enjoyment passed quickly.

Thursday morning, March 19th, occurred the marriage of Arthur F. Thornton of Juda to Miss Mabel A. Hurd of this city at the Congregation at parsonage by Rev. J. Lloyd Smith. The last basketball game of the season in Brodhead occurs in the new gymnasium, between the boys and girls' school teams of Stouten and Brodhead, a double-header.

Bank of Hoffman, Okla., Robbed.

Muskogee, Okla., Mar. 20.—Two robbers, believed to be members of the gang that held up the Tyrone (Kan.) bank last week, walked into the Davis bank at Hoffman, Okla., 30 miles southwest of here, Thursday afternoon, covered the bank officials with pistols, and, gathering up $500 in currency, mounted their horses, which were standing outside, and escaped.

Future for Rutile Metal.

Rutile is described as the purest ore of the metal titanium. They think that this metal is going to be in great demand for the bearings and axles of flying machines. A big deposit of rutile has been found in the Thmaron district of Queensland.

Unpardonable.

"I was so sorry to hear that your husband is ill," said the caller. "Yes," was the reply, "It was really too bad. He took such a liking to a new kind of health food that he overate himself."

Sublimity of Forgiveness.

ECONOMIES IN CROP GROWING

The national habit of economy has extended even to preparations for putting out the new crops. In the buying of farm implements the southwestern crop-fer has not possessed himself of the 10-hand giant of a mule for which he would ordinarily pay $150. He knows better than that. He knows that he can save half of that outlay by leading home a scrub mule or two. At half the investment in mule power he can make just as good a crop at a much lower cost. The farmer is concentrating his mind on reducing the capital outlay for the production of his next crops. He'll make the old plow, the old wagon, and the old rooster do for one season more, and that will bring the net cost of his year's crops down lower than it has been for some years. If prices fall he is not hurt. If they rise he will be just that much better off. Our American farmers know a trick or two when it comes to making a dollar do its full duty in his vineyard.

A FALSE SCARCITY VALUE

"Can the De Beers Mining Co. and the Premier Mining Co., by shutting down their mines, maintain the price of diamonds?" asks the Wall Street Journal. "If they were selling silk or furniture, or carpets, or something else which is consumed in the use of it, the question would be one of the minimum world's requirements and the maximum possible production. The answer would be purely a matter of arithmetic. The essence of the diamond problem is that diamonds are not consumed, but that every possible precaution is taken to preserve them. The diamond companies in fact will be not merely competing with each other. They are competing with all the South African diamonds sold by themselves since the discovery of the Kimberley fields in the early seventies.

"The diamond mine itself is probably inexhaustible. The De Beers Co. has on hand rough diamonds sufficient to keep the market supplied for five years at the usual rate of demand. There is in fact no scarcity value other than that created by the sources of supply being in so few hands. One had slump in diamonds, and fashion might change. The price of the stones has been artificially advanced. There are, however, enough of them on the market to cut the price in half in the event of any one of a number of highly possible contingencies. It only wants a year or two of bad times, and the supply from dead estates, to say nothing of the realizing of present holders, to settle the question of diamonds, and settle the diamond monopoly also. The mining shares in London have dropped badly; but for all that the public can find many better uses for its money than in the purchase of shares, or the article which the diamond companies produce."

A HOPEFUL VIEW

"The hopeful view of American financial conditions formed by Sir Edgar Vincent after a tour of several months in the United States and Canada, is most encouraging, for Sir Edgar is a trained observer, capable of forming a sound opinion after critical inquiry. He is of the opinion that the recent panic in this country will prove of inestimable value to the commercial future of the United States," says an eastern exchange.

"This makes the panic and the resulting industrial depression not the less hard to bear in their temporary effects, but it does serve as an antidote for any confirmed pessimism. That business conditions are now in a very unsatisfactory state, so unsatisfactory, indeed, that many of the great leaders in the business world seem to be in a maze, not knowing exactly the way out, cannot be gainsaid. But there are so many evidences of fundamental soundness and intrinsic value, and so many proofs of recuperative power, the heart of the bulk of the American people is so sound, our agricultural and industrial resources are so enormous, and our ability, after many vacillations, to arrive at a true political balance has been shown in so many of our national crises, that no one should doubt for an instant the ability of the United States to solve all its problems and return to a full normal prosperity."

NOT TWO MASTERS

Even as far back as the biblical days we learn that man cannot serve God and mammon. Judge Anderson's refusal of a new trial for John R. Walsh, the convicted Chicago banker, follows this teaching. Judge Anderson says in the promoter Walsh, the banker Walsh lost his identity. It was a case of serving two masters and Walsh failed.

Recently in Chicago a man jumped down an elevator shaft with suicidal intent, only to be met by the elevator coming up and escaped with nothing but a few bruises. If it had been an accidental fall he would have been killed.

It will remain to be seen if Rear Admiral Sperry has as large a vocabulary as Admiral Evans. "Fighting Bob" certainly could talk sailor when the need came. With flags or with his own mouth or by wireless.

The question of nominating a good fellow for office is all poppycock. Name the best man available and see he is chosen. Business in city affairs will save the taxpayers many a pretty penny in two years' time.

Grandpa Allison showed that younger Cummings his place in mighty quick order when the opportunity came. Iowa has redeemed herself after years of reform.

Now that Grover Cleveland is seventy-one years old Uncle Joe Cannon will concede that he is old enough to run for president again if he wants to.

William Ruger's campaign for the supreme court judgeship is one of dignity that belittles the office he seeks and he is assured the hearty support of Rock county.

Forgan's personal opinion of Wisconsin's senior senator would not do to print in a daily paper. What he says for publication is strong enough.

Evidently politics are warming up a bit. There is something doing every minute in some localities throughout the state and it is not all anti-Taft.

Carnegie and Rockefeller should have had an official scorer when they played that game of golf that has caused all this trouble.

That war cloud hovering over Haiti is not as large as some that have been seen in the Balkans, but still it counts some.

If Wall Street had a few independent oil refiners on tap it would not think so badly of the president's message.

Something ought to happen with the president and congress both putting their shoulders to the wheel.

Congress is to adjourn in May. We can then count on a resumption of business activity.

With Primary day less than a week away some of the candidates are fighting pretty badly.

EXECUTIVE BUILDING AT HONOLULU.

Few American citizens realize that American government is administered in a regular territory of the United States from the palace of a king. Such is the paradoxical situation in Hawaii. The island palace, completed by King Kalakaua in 1882 as his royal residence, is now executive headquarters of the territorial government. It is a brick building with cement facing. Formerly its handsomely decorated rooms, finished in polished woods, and its spacious verandas were the gathering place of the friends of native royalty, but now the MINISTER IS SENT TO PRISON.

Sentenced for Sending Obscene Pictures Through the Mails.

Scranton, Pa., Mar. 20.—Judge Archbold, in the United States court here, Thursday sentenced Rev. H. E. Zimmerman of Omaha, Neb., formerly a Lutheran minister in Dickinson, this state, to six months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $100 for sending obscene pictures through the mails. The charges against Zimmerman related to a sensation in and around Dickinson, where he held a pastoral office after being graduated from the theological seminary at Gettysburg, Pa.

When he was arraigned Zimmerman pleaded guilty and some of the members of his former congregation testified to his good character. The defendant sought to excuse his conduct on the ground that he needed the pictures in connection with a magazine article which was in the course of preparation.

Musings of the Metropolis

News of New York Town
Outlined in Brief Form.

Matteawan Asylum, Thaw's New Home

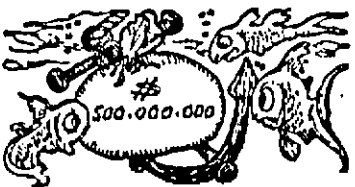

NEW YORK.—The ending of the Thaw trial will no doubt bring relief to a large number of people. As to the justice of the verdict the consensus of opinion is that it was practically the only one the jury could return.

While the Matteawan Asylum for the Criminal Insane is not the most pleasant place in the world to live in, there are also many less inviting places. The distinguishing feature of the asylum is the absence of anything in the extensive buildings or the broad grounds that surround them to suggest that the patient is in a jail. Here a few details rendered necessary by a consideration of the safety of the inmates, the person who dwells there might well think that he was in some well ordered hotel, where he is spared the necessity of work to meet the frequent calls of the cashier, and where every effort is put forth to make his stay both pleasant and profitable.

There are no uniforms or stripes to suggest to the patient that he is a prisoner. Even the attendants are dressed in ordinary street clothes. If "Bathhouse John" should go there he would find that he might exercise his vagaries in dress to his heart's content. One man there now, it is said, insists on changing his clothes every hour and persists in wearing a silk hat and gloves and carrying a cane as he walks up and down the corridors.

Perhaps the one thing that is more institutional than any other is the dining room. The inmates, about 600 in number, are seated at 24 tables, on which are plates, bowls and spoons, but no knives or forks, except for a few "trusties." In his eating the patient may follow his own fancy. He may eat the breakfast of the institution, which consists ordinarily of oatmeal, bread and butter and coffee, or he may provide himself with all the luxuries that money can purchase. When he may not have, unless they are prescribed by a physician, when he may indulge himself in the finest vintages.

Manhattan Anchored by Costly Bands

MANHATTAN ISLAND will not float out to sea. There is no danger of its losing its moorings on the surrounding shores and carrying its two million or more inhabitants down the bay. It is tied with bands of steel on all sides that have cost $500,000,000, and they promise to be increased soon.

Not being satisfied with 19 bridges anchored to its borders, it has completed, or nearly completed, seven tunnels, carrying steel rails under the surrounding waters which unite it to the further shores.

Many inhabitants of the island do not realize the number of these fixed bands that tie it on all sides. They know that there are bridges, and they have recently heard a great deal about tunnels, but comparatively few persons can name these connections and tell exactly where they are located. The best known of these steel ways is the great Brooklyn bridge, from Park row, that has been in use about 24 years and cost $21,000,000. The Williamsburg bridge, from the foot of Delancey slip, opened three years ago, and costing $12,000,000, comes next for a place in the public mind.

After these come two other East river bridges, the Manhattan bridge and the Blackwell's Island bridge, which are now well under way. Then come 14 structures, almost as important but less pretentious, over the Harlem river, Spuyten Duyvil creek and the Ship Canal.

These are to be followed by the great New York and New Jersey bridge, over the Hudson river, which has been situated between West Forty-ninth and Fifth streets, and which will cost $20,000,000.

The underground tunnel connections now number seven, six being under the East and North rivers, equally divided, and one under the Harlem. These will probably be doubled in number before many more years.

Besides the subway that connects the island with the Borough of the Bronx, the rails have just been put in use under the East river from the Battery to Brooklyn Borough. Two more under water connections are nearing completion—the Pennsylvania tunnel at Thirty-first street and another at Forty-second street. Then the Pennsylvania tunnel is being completed westward through Thirty-first street under the North river into New Jersey. Two other North river systems from Jersey City terminate at Cortlandt and at Morton streets respectively.

Passing of Club Cars of Commuters

THE "club cars," which are used to carry fashionable commuters between their suburban homes and the city, bid fair to go out of business. Cause, financial stringency. There are several of the cars in service, particularly on the Jersey roads. Morristown sends in two in the morning that return in the late afternoon. Bernardsville sends one—Plainfield and Lakewood contribute one each over the Jersey Central, Tuxedo one, Nyack one over the Erie and Newburg one over the West Shore. Brewster sends one down over the Northern; while four start from stations on the Long Island railroad.

The price for a reserved seat in one of the cars is approximately $125 a year for every 25 miles, in addition to commuted fare. The club car may run empty, but its luxury is not for the average commuter under any conditions. Nor will Morristown share its club car privilege with Summit or Short Hills. Nor Plainfield with Westfield or Cranford. Nor Lakewood with anywhere, nor Tuxedo with Paterson. They are singular and expensive evidences of exclusiveness.

One of the roads has notified its patrons that a club car will be put on for 25 subscribers this year from any station. Hitherto it demanded 30 patrons. It has also reduced its price by five dollars. But, notwithstanding these tempting offers, some of them have been taken off simply because the people have not the money to spend for that purpose. In one case a darker cause was discovered. They play cards on the trips and a professional gambler secured a membership and piled his vacation so successfully as to disrupt the community as well as to nearly bankrupt it. For that reason one of the Morristown cars goes back to the common status of a parlor car on the day express.

"L" Road Boasts One Cheery Guard

IF THE public service commissioners could enforce the employment of entertaining guards and conductors for the cars there would be fewer complaints from straphangers. People want to be amused, and really something ought to be done to make the noisy, jolting trip between stations pass pleasantly. The advertisements are not changed often enough to be of any use as a diversion and an amusing trainman would surely make his mark.

It is interesting to know that at least one guard has found this out and that there are always two cars full of cheerful people in the city.

This benefactor is a guard on the Third Avenue elevated, and he gets more fun out of his trip from Bronx park to Brooklyn bridge than all the rest of the guards put together. The minute you enter his car you are struck with the smiles on the faces of all the passengers and immediately you wonder what the joke is.

Gazing on his audience stands the cheerful guard with a twinkle in his eye, and as a station comes in sight, he says confidentially and with a certain air of mystery: "Ladies and gentlemen, this station is Fifty-ninth street." For the first time everybody is much pleased to know that it is Fifty-ninth street, and there is a laugh.

This guard has a voice capable of many inflections, while his enunciation is so startlingly perfect that a combination of the two is, as the billboards say, amusing as well as instructive. One might mistake this—that is his name—for a friendly guide pointing out the places of interest on Third Avenue, for each station is called out as if there were some particular and charming interest attached to it. Some are chanted in a monotonous; some are sung on an ascending scale; others are recited in the most dramatic fashion, and the passengers are truly sorry when they hear the last number of the program at city hall and the bridge. Would there were more of him!

LIABILITY ACT IS PROMISED LABOR

SPEAKER CANNON TELLS DELEGATION IT WILL PASS.

FAIRBANKS IS HOPEFUL.

President Gompers and Colleagues Present Memorial Protesting Against the Inaction of Congress.

Washington, Mar. 20.—Speaker Cannon and Vice-President Fairbanks Thursday announced their belief that the present congress will pass an employers' liability act which will meet and overcome the unconstitutionalities of the present law pointed out by the supreme court of the United States in a recent decision.

These statements were made unreservedly by Speaker Cannon, and guardedly by the vice-president to a delegation, led by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, from 87 national and international trade and labor organizations and farmers' organizations assembled in a national conference in this city. The delegation called on the speaker to lay before the house of representatives, through him, a memorial entitled "Labor's Protest to Congress."

Gist of the Memorial.

The scope of this memorial was set forth in the following paragraphs:

"We, the official representatives of the national and international trade and labor unions and organizations of farmers, in national conference assembled, in the District of Columbia, for the purpose of considering and taking action deemed necessary to meet the situation in which the working people of our country are placed by recent decisions of the courts, now appear before congress to voice the earnest and emphatic protest of the workers of the country against the indifference, if not actual hostility, which congress has shown toward the reasonable and righteous measures proposed by the workers for the safeguarding of their rights and interests.

"In the name of labor we now urge upon congress the necessity for immediate action for relief from the most grave and momentous situation which has ever confronted the working people of this country. This crisis has been brought about by the application by the supreme court of the United States of the Sherman anti-trust law to the workers both organized and in their individual capacity.

"Labor and the people generally look askance at the invasion of the court upon the prerogatives of the law making and executive departments of our government."

Two Amendments Submitted.

The memorial submits to congress for consideration two amendatory provisions, in substance as follows: "That nothing in said act (Sherman anti-trust law) or in this act is intended nor shall any provision thereof hereafter be enforced so as to apply to organizations or associations not for profit and without capital stock, nor to the members of such organizations or associations.

"That nothing in said act (Sherman anti-trust law), or in this act is intended nor shall any provision thereof hereafter be enforced so as to apply to any arrangements, agreements or combinations among persons engaged in agriculture or horticulture made with a view of enhancing the price of their own agricultural or horticultural products."

DELEGATES UNINSTRUCTED.

West Tells a Yarn or Two and Touches on Other Topics.

"Speaking of pugilists weighing in for a fight," said Joe Humphreys, the famous manager of pugilists, the writer recently, "I remember the time old Tom McGuire managed Patsey Swenney and had him matched to meet Kid Broad. Tom thought Broad was pounds overweight, and the night of the fight he went into the weighing room with blood in his eyes. On the scales they had a number of weights, some twenty-five, some fifty and one a hundred pounds.

"Broad jumped on, and they put the hundred pound weight on, and he tipped the beam at exactly the right figure. McGuire pulled the weight off the scales and yelled: 'Nothin' doin'! Nothin' doin'! No one can tell me that this little thing weighs a hundred pounds. It says a hundred, I know, but you've got to show me.'

"It took an hour to explain the thing to him."

The methods employed by athletes to overcome the nervousness from which so few are free at the approach of an important event are both interesting and amusing. Perry McKee, the young Pittsburgh swimmer, who has been so prominently before the public in late months, is among the worst sufferers from what he terms "the shakes." At the recent meet between the Oakland Athletic club and the East Liberty A. C. C. M. Daniels of the New York Athletic club was standing at the competitors' end of the big natatorium when he noticed McKee come from the dressing room with a big lump on his jaw that looked like a bad abscess. Full of sympathy, the champion went up to the boy and, putting to the exercises, asked anxiously what was the matter. McKee felt at his jaw and smiled a bit sheepishly. "Oh, that's nothing!" he said. "I always put a quid of tobacco there when I'm going to race. It keeps me from getting nervous. I was a sailor boy once, you know."

ANOTHER ARTICLE
ON ROAD BUILDINGMR. SKAVLEM WRITES SECOND
ARTICLE FOR THE GAZETTE.

FACTS WORTH CONSIDERING

Give Example of the Situation as It Really Exists in Rock County.

It is with pleasure that the Gazette presents to its readers a second article on the roads of Rock county from the pen of H. L. Skavlem. Too much can not be said relative to this question which confronts every taxpayer in the county:

The first move towards county aid in road-building came in 1906, when the towns of Beloit and Bradford petitioned the county for aid in road-making under the provisions of chapter 210, laws of 1905.

This new departure was viewed with considerable suspicion by many members of the county board. The petitions were closely scrutinized by the law experts of the board, and found to be somewhat defective in wording, and turned down.

In 1907 Beloit and Bradford renewed their request for aid and new petitions came from Center, Clinton, Fulton, Milton and Plymouth. All of these petitions were declared valid and in proper form and the requested aid granted.

The town of Center received $500 county aid for two half-mile strips of road, surfaced with gravel, eight feet wide and two inches deep.

Plymouth built a gravel road 3,630 feet in length, graded eight feet wide, eight inches deep. The state furnished a ten-ton steam roller and expert supervision of the work. The result was an excellent piece of road. The cost was $793.72, one-half paid by county.

Town of Beloit built two half-mile stretches of gravel roads, one piece graded nine feet wide and nine inches deep, at a cost of $325 per road. The other piece of road was covered with gravel nine feet wide and eight inches deep at a cost of $3.89 per rod, one-half of cost paid by county. John H. Jones, chairman of the town, rented a horse-drawn roller from the city of Beloit and with this rolled the road after being completed. This was a marked improvement over the loose gravel surface, but not sufficient to make very firm roadbed. It was the best that could be done with the funds available. Had these roads been properly completed with a heavy roller the same as the piece of road built at Danvers their service value would have been ten—perhaps twenty—per cent more.

The towns of Fulton, Milton and Bradford also received aid for building gravel roads. No rollers were available for packing the gravelled surface and last fall some of these new roads were simply "horrible" and are now in some places badly rutted and greatly in need of split-log dragging and roller packing.

The town of Clinton has the only sample of a stone road built by county aid. This was built under government supervision and is an excellent sample of up-to-date macadam road-building. Unfortunately, both weather conditions and scarcity of available labor made the cost of this piece of sample road much above what it would have been under ordinary conditions. Hon. S. S. Jones, who is chairman of the town of Clinton and also chairman of the county board of supervisors, has had to shoulder as much unmerited criticism and any amount of good-natured "joshing" about "Jones' high-price road."

Mr. Jones is an enthusiastic advocate of good roads and expects to be "roaded" for some of his advanced ideas, being willing to hide his time, with the assurance that the people of Rock county will appreciate his efforts in this work more and more as time goes on and the advantages of modern up-to-date road-making is realized. (For further information about this road write S. S. Jones, including stump and he will tell you all about it.)

REBEKAH LODGE 171
TENTH ANNIVERSARYWas Observed in Pleasant Fashion
Last Evening—Program of Address and Music and Dance.

Janesville Lodge No. 171, Daughters of Rebekah, celebrated the tenth anniversary of its organization at West Side Odd Fellows' hall last evening.

An interesting program of addresses and music was followed by dancing, which lasted until midnight. Judge A. E. Fisher, district deputy of the Odd Fellows' order, delivered the address of welcome and vocal selections were rendered by George L. Hatch, who played his own accompaniment on the harp, and Prof. Blair of the high school faculty who is gifted with a fine baritone. J. F. Carlo reviewed the history of the local Rebekah lodge from the day of its inception with 50 charter members up to its present flourishing status with 133 names on the roster. Charles Patterson sang an original selection and in response to an enthusiastic encore recited

INTERURBAN TALK
CREATES INTERESTParty Driven Over Proposed Route to Madison Yesterday with Team.

That there is something definite in the way of an interurban is evident by the fact that H. L. Ziegler, Mr. Jamison of Chesham, and Joseph E. L. also of Chesham, and Ziegler's engineer, drove from Janesville to Madison yesterday through all the cold and mud to inspect the proposed route of the Janesville-Madison interurban. The start was made at eight o'clock yesterday morning and the party reached Stoughton at ten minutes to one, having gone by way of Indian Ford and Edgerton. From Stoughton to Madison the road on the west side of Lake Kegonsa was followed closely and thence through Lake View into the city. Today the party returned by way of McFarland, taking in the east side of the two lakes and going from Edgerton to Milton and Milton Junction, where a meeting of citizens was held to confer with them. Mr. Ziegler will make his headquarters in Janesville and expects to begin actual field work very shortly. Mr. Jamison, who is a member of the syndicate which is behind Mr. Ziegler, is much impressed with the proposition and believes it would be a paying investment. The route, of course, has not been designated as yet. It may run from Janesville through Indian Ford to Edgerton, thence to Stoughton, then up the west side of Lake Kegonsa, and cross the Yahara above the intake, and around through McFarland and skirt the shore line to the Madison road, and thence to Lake Monona and make a circuit of this lake to the fair grounds and thence into Madison. It might also run from Janesville to Milton and then to Edgerton, tapping the Lake Kegonsa district, then up to First lake and on to Second, entering Madison either from the east or west side. Nothing definite has been arranged and today's meeting in Milton will probably have decided hearing upon the matter. The party expect to return to Janesville this evening. The trip to Madison was completed at six yesterday after very hard travelling from Stoughton to Madison.

The arrival in New York of George B. Hackenschmidt, the Russian lion, who is fighting for international honors with Frank Gotch, the champion wrestler of America, in Chicago on April 5, has set lovers of the game in this city agog as to how the two compare. Indications are that considerable betting will take place as to the outcome of the match after more has been heard of Hackenschmidt's style of wrestling and how the minor matches turn out.

Wrestling experts who have seen both men work, assert that Gotch is the far shrewder and more graceful wrestler of the two. Gotch uses his science in the neatest possible fashion and displays a lot of fast and dazzling tricks. Hack simply goes after his man to win as rapidly and ferociously as possible. He wastes no moves, spends no time in extra points, but grabs his victim, goes to the floor, and gets away with sheer strength and rapidity.

Gotch is determined to get something of an edge on the Russian, if good conditioning will do it, and will take three weeks' time for training. Hackenschmidt is taking long chances. Coming straight from the steamer, he is wrestling a number of minor matches and will hope to catch around the country until March 23, when he will go to Chicago and train.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO
NEAT GRASS LAWNSWhat Would Be Needed to Make Bar-ren Field in Neat Grass Plot
About a Home.

There is nothing more beautiful around a house than a fine, smooth, verdant lawn. This is obtained either by laying turf or sod, or by sowing seed. If turf is used the lawn is sometimes ready for use in rather less time than when seed is sown, but, practically, the difference is very slight. Fewer lawns are made from turf every year. The turf or sod is nearly always obtained from some nearby field; it abounds in coarse grasses and portulaca weeds. This former may be got rid of after considerable trouble, but the latter rarely ever. Turf or sod-laid lawns are nearly always uneven, seamy and varied in color and texture. Their cost, too, is much in excess of seeding the lawn down.

A lawn produced from a mixture of choice reclaimed seeds of the finer grasses is superior in quality and texture to the best sod obtainable. To obtain the best results from sowing, the ground should be carefully dug over and raked thoroughly. Sow 70 to 80 lbs. of Lawn Grass seed to the acre or one half pound to the square rod.

Take the seed in, and after sowing, roll it well or beat it flat with the spade.

The best time for sowing is from the middle of March to the first of May.

Old Lawns become thin in portions. Use the rake vigorously on these. It will look bad for a time, but the grass will soon spring up again and be the better for it.

Over the raked-up surface sprinkle some good fertilizer and rake it evenly in.

Lawns are fixed crop and derive nourishment from a few inches near the surface. They are voracious feeders and show quick and thankful appreciation of an application of fertilizer.

The common method of applying barnyard manure has two bad features which are fast stopping the practice.

Manure to produce effect must lay on the lawn for some time and its uncleanliness and odor are disagreeable.

The second and most serious objection to manure as a fertilizer is the presence of numberless weed seeds.

Contrary to oft-given advice, do not let a poor, thin lawn run to seed. It never improves. It will weaken it more. Rake or harrow it well over and let it lie as above for old lawns.

Lawns should be carefully looked after to always present a green, thrifty appearance. If low-lying, it should be drained. Annual weeds will appear, either indigenous to the soil or blown in from surrounding land. Most of these can be checked by the regular cutting of the grass, but, some, like Dandelions, Plantains and Thistles, must be taken up, each one singly, about an inch below the surface. Another way to get rid of them is to dip a wooden skewer into a bottle of Sulphuric Acid and run this into the heart of the weed. Care should be taken in handling the acid, as it burns holes in the clothes if it gets on them.

The weeds should be in all cases attacked systematically. Mark off a strip of the lawn 6 or 8 feet wide, with a garden line, and weed this thoroughly, then change the line and weed the next strip. The improved appearance of the lawn will amply repay you.

ENTHUSIASM HAS NOT DIMINISHEDQUESTION OF A COUNTY FAIR
MUCH TALKED OF.

Much Money Must Be Raised to Insure the Success of the Undertaking.

If Janesville wants that county fair, half as hard as the men who show interest in the matter say, it will be a certainty. The real problem now is raising the funds necessary. This means good hard work on the part of the committee appointed and until they report what they think they can do in the matter it is useless to do more than prophesy what the fair will mean.

Great Affairs.
That it will be a success no one doubts. Janesville is noted for "pulling off" successful affairs and if it puts its shoulders to the wheel with a county fair as the objective point it will develop a fair that will be without peer in southern Wisconsin.

Its success is assured. A genuine old fashioned fair with lots of exhibits, lots of racing and lots of fun. A fair that will become an annual event looked for with pleasure by every resident of the county.

Not A Freak.
The talk has been all the fair must be a fair not a freak. It must receive the support of the farmers and they must understand it is their fair not Janesville, and only located in Janesville because of the geographical location of the city and the facilities for handling the crowds.

THE MYSTERY

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE
And SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY M. CLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

Through the coarse grass I crept thus to the very entrance of the arroyo, then rose to my feet. In the middle distance the first leaped red. Its glow fell intermittently on the surgeon rolling in. The men staggered or lay prone, either as gigantic skeletons or as tattered, mangled palates by the light. The begotten solid and substantial, the hub about which reeled the orgy. At the edge of the wash I could make out something prone, dim, limp, thrown constantly in new positions of weariness as the water ebbed and flowed beneath it, now an arm thrown out, now cast back, as though Old Scrubs slept furiously. The drunkards were getting noisy. Handy Solomon still reeled off the verses of his song. The others joined in, faintly off the key or punctuated the performance by wild staccato yells.

"Their cotch was their ship, and their grave it was the sea. Now high, blow low; what care was to sink them in the sea. Down on the coast of the high bar-bare-oo."

hollowed Handy Solomon.

I turned and plunged into the cool darkness of the canyon.

CHAPTER XXI.

TEN seconds after entering the arroyo I was stumbling along in an absolute blackness. It almost seemed to me that I could reach out my hands and touch it, as one would touch a wall, or perhaps not exactly that, for a wall is hard, and this darkness was soft and yielding in the manner of enveloping hangings. Directly above me was a narrow, jagged and irregular strip of sky with stars. I splashed in the brook, finding its waters strangely warm, rustled through the grasses, my head back, chin out, hands extended as one makes his way through a house at night. There were no sounds except the thud of the sulphurous stream. Successive bands in the canyon wall had shut off even the faintest echoes of the bacchanalia on the beach.

The way seemed much longer than by daylight. Already in my calculation I had traversed many times the distance, when with a jump at the heart I made out a glow ahead and in front of it the upright logs of the stockade.

To my surprise the gate was open. I ascended the gentle slope to the valley's level and stumbled over a man lying prostrate, shivering violently and moaning.

I bent over to discover whom it might be. As I did so a brilliant light seemed to fill the valley, throwing an illumination on the man at my feet. I saw it was the plager and perceived at the same instant that he was almost beside himself with terror. His eyes rolled, his teeth clattered, his frame contracted in a strong convulsion, and the black of his complexion had faded to a washed out dirty gray, revolting to contemplation. He felt my touch and sprang to his feet, clutching me by the shoulder as a man clutching rescue.

"My Gawd!" he shivered. "Look! Dar it is again!"

He fell to patting in a tongue unknown to me—charms, spells, undoubtedly to exorcise the devil that had hold of him. I followed the direction of his gaze and myself cried out.

The doctor's laboratory stood in plain sight between the two columns of steam blown straight upward through the stillness of the evening. It seemed bursting with light. Every little crack leaked it in generous streams, while the main illumination appeared fairly to bulge the walls outward. This was in itself nothing extraordinary and indicated only the activity of those within, but while I looked an irregular patch of incandescence suddenly splashed the cliff opposite. For a single instant the very substance of the rock glowed white hot. Then from the spot a shower of spiteful flakes shot as from a pyrotechnic and the light was blotted out as suddenly as it came.

At the same moment it appeared at another point, exhibited the same phenomena, died, flashed out at still a third place, and so was repeated here and there with bewildering rapidity until the walls of the valley crackled and spat sparks. Abruptly the darkness fell. As abruptly it was broken again by a similar exhibition, only this time the fire was blue. Blue was followed by purple, purple by red. Then ensued the blindest possible pause, in which a figure moved across the bars of light emanating through the chinks of the laboratory, and then the whole valley blazed with patches of varicolored fire. It was not a reflection. It was actual physical conflagration of the solid rock in irregular areas. Some of the fire shapes were most fantastic. And with the unexpectedness of a bursting shell the surface of the ground before our feet cracked into a ghastly blue flame.

The plager uttered a cry in his throat and disappeared. I felt a sharp breath on my neck, an ejaculation of surprise at my ear. It was startling enough to scare the soul out of a man, but I held fast and was just about to step forward when my collar was twisted tight from behind. I rubbed both my hands, felt steel and knew that I was in the grasp of Handy Solomon's claw.

The sailor had me fast. I did my best to twist around, to unbutton the collar, but in vain. I felt my wrist leaving me, the ghastly blue light was shot with red. Distinctly I heard the man's sharp intaken breath as some new phenomenon met his eye, and his great oath as he swore.

"By the mother of God," he cried, "it's the devil!"

Then I was jerked off my feet, and the next I knew I was lying on my back, very wet, on the beach. The day was breaking, and the men, quite sober, were talking vehemently.

It was impossible to make out what they said, but as Handy Solomon and the plager were the center of discussion I could imagine the subject. I felt very stiff and sore and hazy in my mind. My neck was lame from the dragging and my tongue dry from the choking. For some time I lay in a half torpor watching the blue of dawn change to the rose of sunrise, utterly indifferent to everything. They had thrown me down across the first rise of the little sand dunes back of the the sands, and from it I could at once look out over the sea full of the restless shadows of dawn and the land narrowing to the mouth of the arroyo. I remember wondering whether Captain Solover were up yet. Then with a sharp stab at the heart I remembered.

The thought was like a dash of cold water in clearing my faculties. I raised my head, seaward a white gull had caught the first rays of the sun beyond the cliffs. Landward—I saw with a choke in my throat—a figure emerging from the arroyo.

At the sight I made a desperate attempt to move, but with the effort discovered that I was again bound. My straining thus called Pulz's attention. Before I could look away he had followed the direction of my gaze. The discussion instantly ceased. They waited in grim silence.

I did not know what to do. Percy Darrow, carrying some sort of large book, was walking rapidly toward us. Perdosa had disappeared. Thrackles after an instant came and sat beside me and clapped his big hand over my mouth. It was horrible.

When within a hundred paces or so I could see that Darrow labored under some great excitement. His usual indifferent manner had, as I have indicated, given way to a firm and decided step; his ironical eye glistened; his hollow cheek glowed.

"Boys," he shouted cheerfully, "the time's up. We've succeeded. We'll sail just as soon as the Lord'll let us get ready. Rustle the stuff aboard. The doctor'll be down in a short time, and we ought to be loaded by night."

Handy Solomon and Pulz laid hand on two of the rifles near by and began surreptitiously to fill their magazines. The plager shook his knife free of the scabbard and sat with it in his left hand, concealed by his body. I could feel Thrackles' muscles stiffen. Another fifty paces and it would be no longer necessary to stop my mouth.

"The thought made me desperate. I had failed as a leader of these men and I had been forced to stand by at debauching, cruel and murderous acts, but now it is over I thank heaven the approach cannot be made against me that at any time I counted the consequences to myself. Thrackles' hand lay heavy across my mouth. I bit it to the bone, and as he involuntarily watched it away I rolled over toward the sea.

Thus for an instant I had my mouth free.

"Run! Run!" I shouted. "For God's sake!"

Thrackles leaped upon me and struck me heavily upon the mouth, then

Kidney diseases are generally found in persons whose blood is impoverished or impure, and whose nerves have not sufficient power or force to make the kidneys perform their proper functions.

The duty of the kidneys is to filter the blood, and when this fluid is filled with uric acid and malarial poisons they become overburdened with extra work. When the nerves are not strong, they fail to supply the power to do this work; then the kidneys become clogged and disease sets in. Kidney complaints usually commence with cold chills, especially in the back and joints, followed with fever and pain. The pain extends to the bladder, joints and thighs. The urine becomes highly colored or extremely light. It sometimes looks red or blood-like, with a brick dust sediment after standing; or it may be stringy or milky and filled with albumen, the most vital element of the body.

When these conditions are allowed to continue they result in one or more of the following conditions:

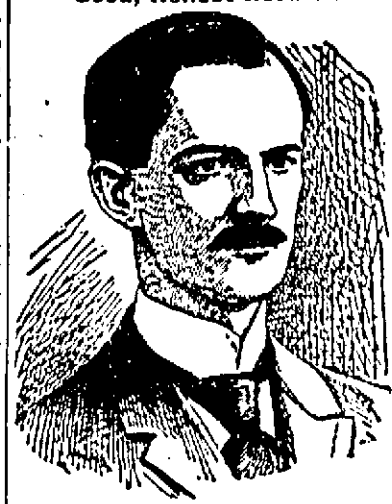

Backache, Weak Back, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Gravel, Gout, Irritation of the bladder, Scalding Urine, Swelling of the Ankles, Dropsy, or some other form of Kidney or Urinary Trouble.

DeBell's Kidney Pills have a direct and specific action in all forms of Kidney, Bladder and Urinary trouble and it is the only remedy which gives the kidneys strength to cast off all poisonous matter from the blood, thus stopping the cause of disease of this nature.

Try DeBell's Kidney Pills. We claim they are par excellence—the most thorough, rapid and effective treatment ever prepared for the cure of kidney trouble and we say it because of the results obtained by their use. They speak for themselves; all we ask is to give them a chance to cure you, the one who suffers.

Did yourself once and forever, by a treatment that you know will cure you and come back into your own happiness, good cheer, contentment, energy, ambition, hope, new life and perfect energy.

Good, Honest Results.

Henry Hood, Mineral Ridge, O. says: "I can say that DeBell's Kidney Pills is the best remedy I ever used for rheumatism and kidney trouble. I have tried a good many kinds of medicine before I commenced using DeBell's Kidney Pills and I could hardly get up or down from a chair, but since I commenced using DeBell's Kidney Pills I can sleep better and don't have to get up so often in the night, and I am much better than I was before I commenced taking them."

OBSTINATE ULCERS MAY LEAD TO CANCER

There is no difference, at first, in the appearance of a cancerous and a common ulcer, and for this reason every sore that is obstinate or slow in healing should excite suspicion, for the sore is nothing more than the external evidence of a polluted blood, and if allowed to remain may degenerate into Cancer. Efforts to heal the ulcer by means of salves, plasters and other external remedies always result in failure, because such treatment can have no possible effect on the blood, where the deadly germs and morbid matter form, and are carried through the circulation to the place. No sore or ulcer can exist without a predisposing internal cause, and the open, discharging ulcer or festering old sore will continue to eat deeper into the surrounding flesh as long as a polluted, germ-infected circulation discharges its impurities into it. S. S. S. goes to the fountain-head of the trouble, and drives out the germ-producing poisons and morbid impurities which keep the ulcer open. Then as this rich, purified blood goes to the diseased place the healing begins, all discharge ceases, the inflammation gradually leaves, new tissue and healthy flesh are formed, and soon the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots and herbs of a healing, cleansing nature, and unlike mineral medicines, which often do great damage to the delicate parts of the system, S. S. S. tones up every part of the body. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice desired free.

AWFUL CREATURE WAS NINETY FEET LONG

Recent Growsome Experience of a Chicago Man Is Sample of a Series of Such Cases

During T. T. Cooper's recent visit to Chicago, where his new preparation and theory created the usual sensation, many hundreds of people brought enormous internal parasites to the young man, which had left the system after taking his medicine.

Among these people was Mr. Emil Winkler, who brought to Cooper a tapeworm that proved to be over ninety feet in length. Mr. Winkler, who resides at 182 East Ohio Street, Chicago, had this to say of his experience: "For five years I have been more or less complaining. I have had severe headaches, and any food that I would eat would nauseate me. I would have had dreams almost every night; dizzy spells would compel me to quit work. Black spots would appear before my eyes when stooping over and rising quickly. I would feel tired most of the time; in fact, I had no life in me to speak of for the last five years. I tried various treatments, and op-physician in St. Louis who recommended to me, and I was under his treatment some time, but as usual I obtained no relief.

"So many people asked me to try Cooper's preparation that I decided to do so, and after using it for a few days, this awful thing passed from my system. I feel much better already, and I want to say right here that I thank Mr. Cooper a hundred times for what his medicine has done for me. I would not take $5,000 and have that thing back in my system again."

Mr. Winkler is a fair sample of the experience of many during Cooper's stay in Chicago, and this no doubt helped to account for the enormous sale of the Cooper preparation in this city and others, recently visited by the young man.

We sell and will be pleased to explain the Cooper preparations. —E. B. Heimstreet.

WON'T WED HELIE DE SAGAN
MADAME GOULD DENIES SHE IS ENGAGED TO PRINCE.
On Landing in New York, She Declares She Has Had Enough of Married Life.
New York, Mar. 20.—Madame Anna Gould, the divorced wife of Count Henri de Castellans, arrived here Thursday on the steamer Adriatic and took immediate occasion to stifle the gossip that, shuffling between two continents, has associated her future plans with the name of Helie de Sagan.
The latter, to whom French custom also accords a title—that of princess—is a cousin of the count, and he has figured more or less in the affairs of the Castellans. Poising as her champion following the divorce proceedings, De Sagan came to be credited with prospects of marrying the plaintiff, but no sooner had Madame Gould set foot upon American soil than she declared:
"I have had enough of married life. I am not engaged to anyone."
Madame Gould was accompanied from Paris by her three sons, Paul, Jay and George, the custody of whom the French courts awarded to the mother. The party was met at the pier by Miss Helen Gould, Mrs. George Gould and Mrs. Tyler Morse. All were later driven to the Fifth avenue home of Miss Gould.
CRUEL HOAX MAY BE FATAL
Man Collapses on Seeing Wife He Believed to Be Dead.
St. Louis, Mar. 20.—When C. H. Hartman, in response to a telegram received in Cincinnati stating his wife was dead, stepped from a train at the Union station Thursday and was met by his wife and daughter smilingly, the shock resulting from nervous tension and grief caused him to collapse and he was taken to his home in a serious condition.
Hartman recently went to Cincinnati on business. On Tuesday he received this telegram: "Ma died at noon.—Lulu."
Hartman's daughter is named Lulu. Immediately he wired back: "Am heart-broken. Will arrive Thursday."
It transpires that Lulu did not send the telegram and Mrs. Hartman has not been ill. The police have been asked to trace down the sender of the telegram.

Start Right With Hand Separators

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the choice and care of the hand separator. The "High Dairy Report" says this on the subject:

"The hand separator system is rapidly gaining in favor with the farmers, and holds fair almost entirely to take the place of the whole milk system in a few more years. Butter makers, where the farmers are starting with the hand separators, should see to it that they start with a proper idea of the care it is necessary to give the cream to keep it in good condition to make good butter. It is easier to start them right than it is to change them after they have gone wrong."

The care of cream commences the moment the milk is drawn from the cow. Clean hands and pails and careful straining are, of course, necessary, but above all, the separator must be clean—thoroughly clean—or the cream is apt to be affected. Therefore, when buying a dairy separator carefully select one free from complicated parts, one easily kept perfectly sweet. This careful selection is all the more necessary because, as before stated, many separator manufacturers have attempted to produce a close skimming machine by introducing numerous unstable, hard-to-clean pieces inside the bowl, whereas all separators howls should be kept as simple and as free from inside parts as possible. Much depends on the shape of the bowl, its speed and the methods adopted for introducing the new milk and discharging the skimmed milk and cream.

When using a dairy size cream separator on the farm, the milk may be skimmed as soon as it is drawn from the cow, and the skimmed milk may be fed to the calves. Immediately, while it is warm and in the best condition, the cream can be put in a single can and the dairyman's wife, son or daughter can take the light wagon, the family horse and the single can of cream to the creamery every day, or only every other day, if preferred. In that way it is unnecessary to lug, wash, handle, or keep in regular three cans out of every four that would otherwise be needed—the lifting of the whole milk into the wagon is done away with—the time of a man and team, one, two or more hours, daily, is saved for other work—the wear and tear caused by the needless hauling of whole milk to the creamery, and skinned milk home again, is avoided—the necessity of lifting the skimmed milk out of the wagon, and the warming of it for the calves, is overcome—and the good wife is saved the work of washing three extra cans. It is quite a common thing now for the creamery to send out wagons after the cream and the farmer does not have to haul it at all, if he uses a farm separator. Pretty strong reasons, are they not?

The Sharples Separator Co., of West Chester, Pa., issue very interesting literature on this subject which will be sent for the asking. They are represented in Janesville by D. M. Barlass, on the Court Street bridge, who is pleased to show the Tubular at all times.
